

The Write Stuff

Writer Amy Tan's hit debut novel, The Joy Luck Club (1989), catapulted her to commercial and critical success, spending over 40 weeks on The New York Times Best Seller list. With the 1993 blockbuster film adaptation that followed, as well as additional bestselling novels, librettos, short stories, and memoirs, Tan firmly established herself as one of the most prominent and respected literary voices working today.

American Masters tells the inspiring story of Tan's life and career in Amy Tan: Unintended Memoir, premiering in honor of Asian Pacific American Heritage Month.

The last completed film from director James Redford (1962-2020) — Tan's close friend and the son of Robert Redford — the intimate portrait features archival home movies, personal photographs, and animation, as well as new interviews with Tan; fellow writers Kevin Kwan, Isabel Allende, Dave Barry, and Ronald Bass; actors from The Joy Luck Club including Lisa Lu, Rosalind Chao, Tamlyn Tomita, and Kieu Chinh; friends and family.

Tan speaks frankly about traumas she has faced in her life and how her writing has helped her heal. Born to Chinese immigrant parents in Oakland, California in 1952, it would be decades before she fully understood how her mother's battle with suicidal tendencies was rooted in a legacy of suffering common to women who survived the ancient Chinese tradition of concubinage. This legacy provides Tan an inexhaustible well of creative inspiration, and her work — including her other bestselling novels The Kitchen God's Wife and The Bonesetter's Daughter — has made her a global icon for Asian Americans.

In honor of Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month, we're re-broadcasting Asian Americans (Wednesdays at 10pm beginning May 12), a series which examines the significant role of Asian Americans in shaping American history and identity during the social and cultural turmoil of the twentieth century to modern refugee crises in a globally connected world.

DONKEY HODIE

The original Mister Rogers' Neighborhood may have stopped producing new episodes years ago, but the influence of the program and of Fred Rogers himself are still being felt across generations.

New imaginative puppet series Donkey Hodie follows the adventures of the granddaughter of the original Donkey Hodie character (now known as "Grampy Hodie"), a puppet from Mister Rogers' Neighborhood. Along with her friends Purple Panda, Duck Duck and Bob Dog, Donkey Hodie will encourage preschoolers to aim high, embrace challenges and work hard to achieve their goals. Kids will laugh and sing along to new music, learn about perseverance, resilience and teamwork, all while enjoying plenty of silliness along the way.

WEEKDAYS AT 11:30AM BEGINNING MAY 3

GI FILM GROUP

Inspired by the book of the same name by Marc Wortman, the film tells the story of a privileged group of Yale college students who formed a private air militia. Known as the First Yale Unit, and dubbed 'the millionaires' unit' by the New York press, they became the founding squadron of the U.S. Naval Air Reserve and were the first to fly for the United States in World War I.
